THROUGH A MAN HOLE.

A Bad Accident Narrowly Averted By a Quiet Horse.

A man hole at the corner of Beretania and Nuuanu streets was carelessly left open last Saturday, and was the cause of what might have been a serious accident.

Two well known young ladies were driving in a phaeton, and the horse got its hind legs into the hole. The young ladies were thrown from the buggy, but were not badly hurt. The horse's legs were bruised badly, but luckily it remained perfectly quiet. It was extricated from its position, and driven to its stable.

POET AND MUSICIAN.

Legal Strife Between a Honolulu Versifier and a Composer.

H. W. Schmidt of Honolulu is a merchant whose hours of relaxation are devoted to the writing of the muses. G. Savile is a San Francisco whose specialty is music. On the last trip of the Sandwich islander to this city the pair met, and the result was that the local composer set to music the Hawaiian poet's latest effusion, entitled "Hawaiian Liberty," says the San Francisco Examiner of August 30th. Savile claims that he did so at Schmidt's request, while the merchant poet claims that such was not the case. They could come to no agreement, and on the eve of his departure for his island home Schmidt received a letter requesting him to call at a lawyer's office.

He ignored the matter, and on the next day proceeded bag and baggage on the Alameda. No sooner had he installed himself than Savile's attorney appeared on the scene, accompanied by a Deputy Sheriff. He was proceeding to lay hands on the baggage of the sweet singer of Hawaii when John D. Spreckles intervened.

He informed the attorney that the steamship company had given a receipt for the traveler's trunks and that they could not be removed. The result was that the merchant poet departed with his belongings for his tropical home, but not till he had been served with a complaint for $250 compensation brought by the San Francisco musician. The poet, not to be outdone in politeness, immediately placed his case in the hands of Delmas & Shortridge, and soon the story of "Hawaiian Liberty" will be told in court.

WATER COLOR EXHIBITION.

It Will Open Today at the Store Occupied by King Bros.

The exhibition of water colors by Miss Bertha Lowden, at the rooms of King Bros., on Hotel street, opens today, and is worthy of careful examination. Miss Lowden studied at the Art Students' League in the city of New York—a school of art, regarded by many as the best in the United States. The instruction given there is of the highest and most critical kind. Sartain, Weir, Carroll Beckwith, Kenyon Cox, Brush, whose works are now standard in the country, are instructors. Of the pictures on exhibition, "Diamond Head," "Coconut," "Street in Chinatown," "The Waikiki Road," and "A Landscape," represent Hawaiian scenes. A number of the pictures represent scenes on the New England coast, and others present scenes and flowers of California. Water colors are growing in favor, for many reasons. No exhibition of the kind has ever been made in this city, and it should be visited by all who are interested in such work.

A LIVELY LUAU.

A Native Has His Legs Toasted in Great Shape.

The lower limbs of a native were badly burned on Saturday evening, so much so, that it was found necessary to send him to the hospital. He had been present at a luau, given in a house near the St. Louis College, and after he had filled up on gin and swipes, he went to sleep. Nothing would wake him up, so a native woman grabbed a Japanese lantern and struck him with it; it did not take long for the paper affair to burn up and in the meantime the man's clothes caught fire. The attention of Simon von Topaz was called by loud shrieks and he entered the house and finally smothered the flames.

A Cutting Affray.

Two Japanese got into an argument last evening which resulted seriously for both. One of them attacked the other with a knife, cutting him badly over the eye. He also amused himself by breaking his opponent's nose. The wounded man was taken to the hospital, and the other was lodged in the police station, charged with assault with a deadly weapon.
